D. Legal Experience

Since joining Bailey Cowan Heckaman PLLC (“BCH”) as a law clerk, Megan has been a part of the asbestos litigation group at the firm. Upon becoming a licensed attorney, she has managed hundreds of mesothelioma and lung cancer cases from intake to trial.

As her career has progressed, Megan has become more involved in other areas of practice at BCH. She conducted the depositions of numerous Essure victims. She conducted the depositions of injured parties, witnesses, and expert witnesses in the 3M litigation. She prepared for and assisted in the depositions of 30(b)(6) and liability witnesses in the PPI litigation as well as other large-scale injury matters. Additionally, Megan assisted in the depositions of several executive officers of Future Motion, Inc.

Most recently, Megan participated in the trial of a wrongful death and personal injury case which went to verdict in the Western District of Missouri. Megan was present at the counsel table throughout the entire trial, prepared lead counsel for direct and cross examinations, and conducted the direct examination of one of the plaintiffs.

E. Settlement Experience

In her role as a managing attorney for asbestos-related cases, Megan has been instrumental in the negotiation of over a thousand individual settlements on behalf of her clients. As part of the settlement process, Megan has obtained approval from her clients for settlements, worked with defense counsel on release language, and qualified settlements by providing the necessary medical and product identification documents to defense counsel.

Megan also assisted in the settlement process of BCH's talc-related mesothelioma docket against Johnson & Johnson. Given the group nature of the settlement, Megan assisted in informing the clients of the group settlement and obtaining client consent to resolve the matters as a group.

Currently, Megan is involved in settling BCH's Elmiron cases and negotiating the master settlement agreement with defense counsel. In the process of negotiation, Megan has ensured qualifying medical documentation has been provided to defense counsel and clients have agreed to the nature of the settlement.
